About This Game

Katana X is a sword simulation action game designed specifically for VR utilizing tracked motion controls. It's a highly accessible game that is easy to get into and strangely addicting once you start. This game takes real physical skill of body control and hand–eye coordination to get high scores. If you like motion gaming, swordplay, and having a serious workout session, this is the game for you.

Katana X was initially inspired by the famous mobile fruit slicing game, but we wanted to make a game that you can actually feel like you are wielding a sword and correctly physically interacting in the virtual world. Slice with the sharp edge of your sword, try for combo opportunities, and avoid hitting bombs to achieve the high score! With practice and the right technique, you might be surprised how high a score you can achieve. Who will be the next Katana Master?

Trailer looks a bit better than the game but is close enough.
Liked the music & real actors.
Game-play is not bad at all.. Used Many Times Works Great.
but it has given me only 1 problem
Blue Screen after Installing A Driver so needed to install a Fresh Install of WIn10 Happened Once

Great Place for your Drivers 10/9 Recommended. Like this game, I am really enjoying these "Hentai" labed games. Like this one, you only get around 10 puzzles but the game play is often fun and a rememberance from when I was a kid. As the quality of this game's pictures aren't nearly as good as the previous games, it just goes to show how I truly enjoy the simple and casual gameplay over anything else.

For a dollar or two, ...yeah, I enjoyed it and I know of someone else that may enjoy it when they get home today.. To be blunt.... THIS IS GREAT while only containing... nine... tracks it is a great addition for anyone who owns Sora and adores the OST (I should point out this is the UNUSED tracks, a mix of Rendezvous, and to top it off... a mix of... Icarus... (The track from Suguri's tralier) it also contains a piano solo which has the same name as the OST.

All of the tracks are great in their own way, though I can't for the life of me begin to describe them, the first one is... slow, birds can be heard allong side the ever constant beat, then all of a suden it changes to a MUCH faster paced track with the second track in the nine and after both Icarus and Rendezvous (Two tracks from Suguri's ST(sound track)) you get the paino solo, admitently a very good solo. (For my kind of pour knolage of painos)
Irconacly I as I'm witing this am listening to Icarus... no really... the latter half just started.
I probably should stop now... this is an ST, nothing to write before hand in Notepad for, this is great if you buy Sora buy this and the OST...
DO. IT.
DO.
IT.
JUST. DO. IT!. 4PM is a very short story about a woman and her drinking problems. Although the game surely has some nice ideas the game is just too short. I do support the idea of one guy creating putting effort in this game and if the game was a bit longer I probably might have recommended it.. Fun game, definitely worth it for under $10 if you're looking for an interesting variation on a tower defence game.

The story diaglue is simplistic, and very badly written, both from a "quality of story" standpoint, and because of poor grammar and bad translating (broken English). That said, you can get the gist of the story, and it doesn't really detract from the actual gameplay. Just keep your expectations low when it comes to the story aspects, and you'll be fine.

The early game is very easy, but the difficulty ramps up the further in you get. There are enough levels that it will keep you busy for several hours.. When i purchesed this dlc i was very happy untill when i got in the game it told me i needed to buy the dlc again. I kept restarting and going on steam suport but nothing seemed to work.. The most easy game in the Ubermosh series.. If you got time to waste it's a decent enough casual srpg. But if you'd rather play something good and not a tedious grindfest cause this is a port of a crappy mobile game meant to run on microtransactions, play something else. Might I suggest SRW, or Front Mission 3-5, or the Fire Emblem series, or one of HBS's Shadowrun games, particularly Dragonfall and Hong Kong, or one of those Spiderweb Software rpgs.

tl;dr: If you just want something to waste several dozen hours doing repetitive and tedious grinding, this'll do, otherwise, go play something more engaging.. And I'm 12 again, on an autumn afternoon, drinking root beer and having fun in an Ian LIvingstone story and - it's wonderful. Trust no one and let the dice fall where they may!

Very good game. At first I wasn't sure exactly how the combat worked, but once I fought a few times, got the hang of it. Great story, fun progression. Played on Explorer difficulty, so the game itself was short - but again, it was also unique and a lot of fun. The artwork was fantastic. Would recommend to anyone that wants or is looking for a different gaming experience.. The look is terrible and distracts from the game.. nive VN :)

. this is epic. Last update is buggy as ♥♥♥♥

. It's kind of like qube but feels like more of a twitchy first person speedrunner. The basic puzzle solving mechanics are easy to learn but finding the right path isnt always easy and can take some skill with timings and air control(if you've spent any time surfing or playing those kind of skill maps on the source engine you'll feel right at home with this game)

The narration was a bit of a drag but thankfully there's an option to disable it in the audio menu, so can't really fault it there.

Worth the price =). https://youtu.be/t-yuVfP20OU

The simulation of day to day newspaper work is a difficult theme to use when trying to hook players on the narrative. In this case, the theme works but the mechanics suffer greatly due to the delayed reaction for feedback. It's never exactly clear what actions are leading to witch consequences, making each day more guess work than meaningful choices.. Its been long since i had this much fun in such a simple game. Eat cubes, kill other cubes and finally. Youre fat enough to become the omega and ascend into greatness by sparks and lights.

I just hope they add more maps.. cool indie game, liked the concept.. Game completed!
